

Company Profile

Optio Software, a leading provider of document output management software, offers solutions to Oracle customers that enables their organizations to customize and deliver information to a global network of digital destinations, including the Internet, e-mail, printers, faxes and wireless devices. Optio's software takes real-time information from 11i applications, external databases and files, customizes it to suit business needs and delivers it to an organization's customers, suppliers, trading partners and staff when, where and how they need it. It does it without modifying the software or the business processes that created the original information.

Oracle conducted a worldwide survey and named Optio as one of their top five most important ISV partners that compliment the Oracle e-business suite of applications.

What are Oracle customers saying about Optio?

After carefully evaluating all the alternatives, we selected Optio because it was the easiest to use. In less than a month we had installed the product, mapped the data and created our documents."
